

The Darrow Chem Syndicate keeps pumping out hit after hit and they don't seem to be stopping anytime soon. With some reboots to Kid Panel's remix of the iconic track 'Imminent The Bomb'.

Huda Hudia & DJ 30A put a little bit of extra gunpowder to really make this one explode. Stabby bass, and a cool synth line buildup make for an excellent party rocking tune. OnDaMiKe keeps the flavour of the original and adds his own twist. Vocal edits and a sweet acapella that drops over the original horns really brings out the funk in this one. Shake K changes it up and adds his unique style for a steezy remix. Adding a new synth line behind the horns to bring the booty out and get you shakin'. This is Shade K style to the max.
